PICTURE STORY WRITING

4X Picture Stories Half minutes is given for thinking a theme and 3.5 Mins for writing

Each story.

STORY WRITING TIPS

Some points to keep in mind while writing a story, how to attempt them, what to write in those stories. Here are following:

1. Take a while to actually think of a story before stating to write. 5 to 10 sec are enough if you have practiced at your home. Those who don't practice sit idle for 30 sec but still can't come up with a plot for the story. "Practice makes a man perfect".
2. Do not write childish stories like "She was walking alone on a road at night when all of a sudden.... a lion came before her and she started screaming then superman came for her rescue" Try to make a little bit practical stories like "she saw an army jeep coming towards her, it stopped near her and a major came out, he asked what are you doing out so late, she told that her father is sick at home and all of the family is out of town, she couldn't find anyone to help so she took the courage and went on her own to go to nearby Cantonment hospital, Major made a wireless call for an ambulance and took the girl to her home to her father. Ambulance came and took him to hospital and he recovered".
3. This story although is quite short and does not satisfy the few rules ill mention but it makes a negative situation quite positive, clears any doubts, and shows courage and decision making ability.
4. As sentence story more difficult than picture story. Because in picture story u can carve out anything.
5. In case of picture story you need to look at the picture, think of something relating to the situation. Try to include each and every character in the picture and the surroundings.
6. Usually the following sequence is adopted...

first 2 ,3 lines give an introduction of the main character and PAST.

2, 3 lines tell about the PRESENT and what is happening in the picture and the last 2 3 lines tell about some positive future happening from this scene.
7. Usually ISSB repeater candidates observed that similar psychology test and the picture showed a boy sitting on stairs.

8. You would have to write 5 to 6 stories in total, Do not include Army in all the stories. At maximum include army/navy /air force in 3 stories. Like in above example you can write, he joined armed forces of Pakistan.
9. Try to include something of your past in the stories, to make them more real. Like some candidate may be included 5th class because he got a scholarship and he did mention it in his bio data form, meaning that he has to relate himself to them.
10. Try to avoid accidents, tragedy, death, anti-state argument in the stories.
11. The most important series of tests of ISSB psychology assessment demands the candidates to write stories. These are not the stories what we read in childhood but stories which demand concentration and serious mindset. These stories clearly put our thoughts and perceptions on paper and help psychologist make assessment of what we are. Story writing tests are divided into two parts.
12. In the first part they are shown an image which is mostly a sketch, consisting of some characters or objects. It is in Pakistani terms called story writing test. But its actual psychology name is "Thematic Appriciation Test". ISSB psychologist are asked to look at it carefully for 30 seconds and then we are given 30 more seconds to think of a story which describes the situation in that picture. After that 3 and half min are given to us to write a story on that scene which we have just seen.

HELPFUL TIPS FOR PICTURE STORY WRITING IN ISSB

1. Make an idea for pointer story writing in given 30 seconds.
2. Relate your story with the incomplete sentence given.
3. Write stories on two different themes for two different incomplete sentences and not matching with picture stories also.
4. Do not exceed 12 lines for a story.
5. Write story on your own ideas and do not copy others ideas.
6. Start your story exactly from the word where incomplete sentence ends.

BARRAGE(DAM)

A dam is a barrier that stops or restricts the flow of water or underground streams. Barrages are usually larger than the headworks. Reservoirs created by dams not only suppress floods but also provide water for activities such as irrigation, human consumption, industrial use, aquaculture, and navigability.

FUNCTIONS OF A HEADWORK

A headwork serves the following purposes

- A headwork raises the water level in the river.
- It regulates the intake of water into the canal.
- It also controls the entry of silt into the canal.
- A head work can also store water for small periods of time.
- Reduces fluctuations in the level of supply in river.

SCIENCE NOTES

1. Vernier Caliper. It is an important instrument used to measure the internal and external diameter and length of a substance up to 0.1 mm.
2. Scalar Quantities. Physical quantities which are completely specified by the magnitude expressed in suitable units e.g. Mass, Value, Length, Speed, Time, Work, Density etc.
3. Vector Quantities. Quantities which require magnitude as well as direction for their complete description e.g. Force, Acceleration, Displacement, Velocity, Torque etc.
4. Speed. It is defined as distance travelled in unit time. It is a scalar quantity. So the unit of speed will be $\text{Speed} = \text{distance} / \text{time} = \text{meter/second}$.
5. Velocity. It is the rate of change of displacement along a particular direction. It is a vector quantity.
6. Acceleration: It is defined as the rate of change of velocity so the unit of acceleration will be $\text{Acceleration} = \text{Velocity} / \text{time}$.
7. Newton's Law of Motions
 - a. 1st Law of Motion. In the absence of an external force, a body at rest will remain at rest and a body in motion will continue to move in a straight line.
 - b. 2nd Law of Motion. When a force is applied on a body it produces acceleration in it which is directly proportional to the applied force and inversely proportional to the mass of the body.
 - c. 3rd Law of Motion. To every action there is an equal and opposite reaction.
8. Law of Gravitation. Everybody in this universe attracts each other with force which is directly proportional to the product of their masses and inversely proportional to the square of the distance between their centers.
9. Mass and Weight
 - a. Mass is a scalar while weight is a vector quantity.
 - b. Mass remains constant everywhere while weight changes i.e. height depth.
 - c. The unit of mass is kilogram while unit of weight is Newton.
10. Kinetic Energy The energy due to the motion of a body is called kinetic energy.
 $K.E = \frac{1}{2}mv^2$
11. Potential Energy The energy due to the position of a body is called potential energy.
12. Momentum. It is the product of mass and velocity. ($M = m.v$)
13. Power. It is the rate of doing work.
14. Energy. It is defined as the capacity of doing work. There are two types of energy kinetic and potential.
15. Centripetal Force. When a body moves in a circle with a uniform motion, it is subject to a force directed towards the center this is called centripetal force.
16. Centrifugal Force. It is a force which acts on a rotating body under the influence of which the body tends to move outward along the radius.

17. Machine. It is a device which enables us to multiply force or gain in speed or change the direction of the force.

18. Friction. If the two bodies be in contact with one another the property by virtue of which a force is exerted between them at their point of contact to prevent one body slipping over the other is called friction and the force between is called force of friction.

19. Pascal s Law. The pressure exerted by a liquid is transmitted equally in all direction.

20. Hook s Law. Within elastic limits, stress is directly propotional to the strain

21. Barometer. A device to measure the atmospheric pressure is called barometer

22. Archimedes Principal. When an object is immersed in a liquid it experiences upward thrust and losses its weight, which is equal to the weight of the liquid displaced it.

23. Pressure and Thrust. When two bodies are in contact, the force which acts between them is called Thrust= $\text{pressure} \times \text{Area}$

24. Radioactivity The phenomenon of emission of radiation from an element is called radioactivity.

25. Galvanometer It is very sensitive instrument with which we can detect electronic current.

26. Semi Conductor. Those substances whose conductivity lies b/w conductors and insulators.

27. Electric Motor. A device which converts electrical energy into mechanical energy is called Electric motor .

28. Boyle s Law. If the temperature of gas remains constant, its pressure was inversely as the volume.

29. Charles s Law. Volume of a given mass of any gas is directly proportional to the inversely. As the volume.

31. Current. The flow of charge through a certain cross section area is called current.

32. Newton s Law of Cooling. The law states that the rate at which a body loses heat is proportional to the differences of temperature between the body and its surrounding independent of the nature of the body.

33. Heat. It is an agent which produces the sensation of warmth. Its effect are rise, temperature, and increase in volume, change of state chemical and physical action.

34. Reflection. When a ray of light is incident obliquely on a surface of separation between two media, a part of its goes in to a second medium along with a part different from the direction of the incident ray.

37. Rainbow. Sometimes an arc of beautiful colors appears in the sky after a shower, this is called rainbow. It is produced by the dispersion of light. After the ray, innumerable droplets of water remain suspended high up in the air, when sun light falls these droplets, it gets split as each is like prism. Each ray of light entering the drop suffers refraction and total internal reflection, and a rainbow is formed on the sky. It is formed on the side opposite to where the sun is located.

38. Focal Length. The distance between focus point (principal focus) and the pole of the mirror.

39. Speed of Sound. 331 m/s

40. Transverse Waves. The waves in which the particles of the medium or the disturbance travel is perpendicular to direction in which wave travel.

41. Longitudinal Wave. The wave in which disturbance is parallel to the line of travel of the wave.

42. Torque. The turning effect of force upon an object. $T = fd$

43. Capacitor. A device to store charge.

44. Weather. The condition of any region for one or two days is called weather.

45. Sound. Stimulus capable of producing the sensation of hearing is called sound.

46. Coulomb's Law. The force of attraction or repulsion between the two points of charges is directly proportional to the product of the two charges and inversely proportional to the square of distance between them.
